House Story of

Roosevelt & Truman

Biography is the world's most acclaimed literary skill. Whether the Plutarch's "Lives of the Ancients" or the story of a contemporary American President a biography gets a double hold on the reader: First, he knows that it is a true story; and second, he recognizes the subject matter as having had an important influence on the world and its people.

Our generation is fortunate because by the time we arrived on the earth it had become a universal custom to write biographies of the famous from direct contact, a much more interesting and trustworthy method than that of the researcher, attempting to put together his story from endless reading of old files and letters concerning one long dead.

Therefore it is of prime interest to learn that the personal story of our two immediate past Presidents is starting seriously in the Saturday Evening Post which goes to the newsstands today. "The President Was My Boss" is the title; and the author, William D. Hassett, knows what he is writing about because for 17 years he was the behind-the-scenes secretary to both the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and to Harry S. Truman.

The Post gave American editors advance copies of its edition of October 10, which goes on sale today, and I read the opening installment promptly and found it fascinating, amusing, and yet eminently fair to our past heads of state.

Here is one you will chuckle over — Mr. Hassett's diary entry:

Hyde Park, September 11, 1943. The ex-Empress (Zita of Austria), all in black, impressed me as a woman of strength, fortitude, and character . . . She inquired about Mrs. Roosevelt and the President said she was expected home from a long air journey in the South Pacific on the 22nd.

"She will be very tired," said Zita.

"No," replied the President, "but everybody else will be."

And of course the first thing that pops into your mind, knowing that Hassett was around the White House for 17 years, is: What does he think about the two men in comparison? Mr. Hassett has anticipated your query. Here is how he compares them:

It would be difficult to imagine two men who were less alike. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was a complex, many-sided man, who often radiated a great warmth and who sometimes was strangely cold. Behind him were generations of Hudson Valley forebears, wealth, independence, high social position. There were the private tutors, Groton, Harvard, summers in Europe, and all the other things that went into the life of a young Eastern gentleman at the turn of the century.

Harry S. Truman, the first President from Missouri, typified the life and environment of the Missouri Valley whence he sprang, even as F. D. R. was the symbol of the old Hudson Valley ascendancy. Mr. Truman was a direct and uninhibited President — not merely of the earth but at times mundane in the extreme. Both men could be stubborn, implacable, uncompromising.

$10 Million to Drought Areas for Buying Hay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today made available 10 million dollars from his emergency funds to buy winter hay supplies for farmers in 13 drought-stricken states.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced the President's action after an early morning White House conference with Eisenhower.

Benson said his department also has decided to give financial aid to states in the actual transportation of hay into stricken areas.

The 10 million dollars is in addition to 40 million authorized by Congress early this year to buy seed and feed for distressed farmers.

Since last June Eisenhower has designated 13 states as drought disaster areas. More than 300 counties

Rhee Working on Way to Free Prisoners

By FRANK JORDAN

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) — President Syngman Rhee worked today on a plan to free 22,500 anti-Communists from Indian custody and the Reds warned that any attempt to carry it out would lead to "serious consequences."

Rhee's intentions were made known by his provost marshal, Lt. Gen. Won Yung Duk, who almost wrecked the truce last June by freeing 25,000 anti-Red North Koreans after the president had given advance notice.

The Communists were infuriated by Won's statement and requested a meeting of the joint military commission.

Major Gen. Lee Sung Cho, senior Communist delegate, charged that Rhee and his spokesmen have clannered that South Korea "will attack Indian troops in an attempt to engineer a mass breakout."

"I now serve warning to your side," Lee told United Nations Command delegates, "that this kind of destructive activity will lead to serious consequences."

Major Gen. Blackshear N. Bryan senior, U. N. delegate on the armistice commission, assured the Communists that "our side will discharge its security requirements 100 per cent."

Guarantees to Russia Head for Showdown

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for giving Russia guarantees against possible new German aggression are most likely to come to a head in concluding plans to arm Western Germany.

No one here knows whether such assurances would make Germanarming in the Western alliance more acceptable to Russia. Many diplomats doubt that it would.

Nevertheless, since the Western Powers now seem determined to go ahead with the German project, and since Russia is bitterly opposed, many feel the idea of a non-aggression guarantee is at least worth a try.

Another circumstance under which Russia could very likely get Western assurances of Germany's future peaceful behavior would be in the event a German unification plan and peace treaty were concluded. In fact, some officials advocate offering a nonaggression guarantee only as part of a peace deal with Russia on Germany.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference yesterday that "the general problem of giving reassurance against the possible resurgence of German aggression is a matter which is being studied by the United States in consultation with the British, French and West German governments."

Winner of first essay contest, announced in December, 1950, was pretty Ann Johnson, then a junior at South Side High School, Memphis, Tenn. Ann used her $1,000 Lion Oil Scholarship at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas. The Lion Oil Scholarship Fund was established as one means of expressing faith in the South and Southern youth.

Lion Oil Company Scholarship Program Aids Southern Youth For 4th Successive Year

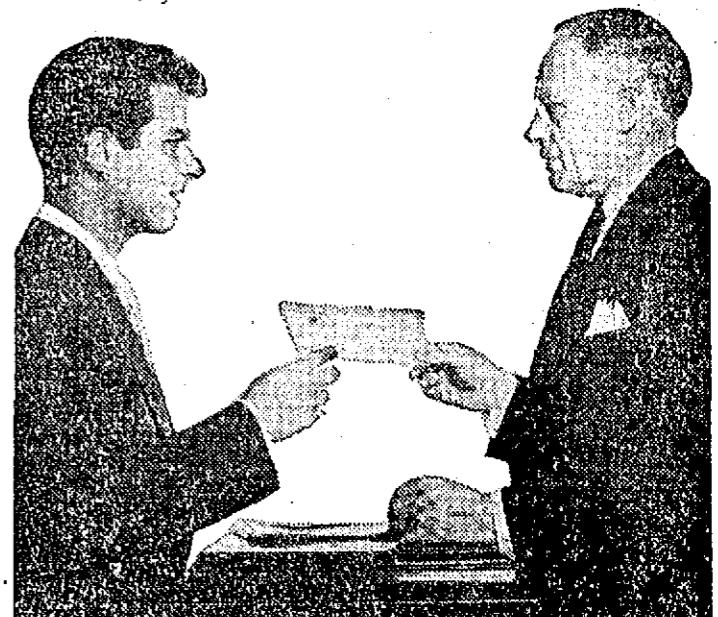

THIRTY-SEVEN SCHOLARSHIPS, 600 OTHER CASH PRIZES HAVE BEEN AWARDED TO SOUTHERN STUDENTS AND TEACHERS. NEW 1953-54 ESSAY CONTESTS OFFER $32,175 IN ADDITIONAL AWARDS!

At typical celebration, Bill Sims, a winner in the 1951-52 series, receives his $1,000 award from C. R. Olson, director of the Scholarship Fund. For encouraging the Little Rock youth, his teacher-sponsor, Miss Mary Piercy, won a $200 cash award. Scholarship winners and their teacher-sponsors are also given recognition on Lion's popular radio show, "Sunday Down South," broadcast over 29 stations.

In airport visit arranged by her teacher-sponsor, Sister Mary Ruth Coffman, Sacred Heart Academy, Cullman, Ala., Rebecca Lowasser learned from Scholarship Fund representatives that she was a Scholarship winner. Contests are open to all high school students in the Lion trade area. This year the Fund provides $100 cash for purchase of library books at each scholarship winner's school, too.

In addition to the $1,000 Scholarships for student winners, the Lion Oil Program provides a $25 cash prize to each of 180 Merit Award Winners and their teacher-sponsors. Merit Awards are usually presented by the school principal in ceremonies like the one above. Since the Fund was established, 637 prizes worth $65,200 have been given to Southern teachers and students in 149 different communities.

... Democracy at work

Mr. J. D. Clary, a prominent educator of Stuttgart, Arkansas, has this to say about the Program: "The Lion Oil Company recognizes that in a real democracy there are no unimportant individuals . . . and so they tribute to this man wherever and whenever he might be . . . and encourage him in his work and in his thinking. That . . . is democracy at work." This statement is typical of the enthusiastic comment received from educators, businessmen and other civic leaders throughout the South.

STUDENTS! TEACHERS!

If you are a high school student in the designated areas served by Lion, you may win one of the twelve $1,000 Scholarships by writing an essay of 600 words or less. Teacher-sponsors of major winners receive $200 cash. And you have a chance to win one of the $25 merit awards which will be made to 180 students and their teacher-sponsors.

Subject of the current student contest is: "The Kind of Citizen I Want To Be," closing October 15, 1953.

In the teacher-essay contest, Lion is offering three $1,200 college scholarships, three $400 cash Travel Grants and thirty-three cash awards of $75 each. Essays must be 1,000 words or less.

Subject of the teacher contest is: "What Are My Responsibilities As A Teacher?" closing February 15, 1954. For complete details about the contests -- ask your principal for a free rules booklet, get one from your friendly Lion Oil dealer, or write the Lion Oil Scholarship Fund, El Dorado, Arkansas.

WHY THE SCHOLARSHIP FUND WAS ESTABLISHED

Lion Oil is part-and-parcel of the South, employing more than 2,700 persons, and paying, annually, almost $16,000,000 in wages and benefits. Lion manufactures more than 60 petroleum products to keep the wheels of Southern industry, transportation, and agriculture spinning. Lion's nitrogen fertilizers enrich the soil of Southern farms . . . help Southern farmers produce more and better crops. The Scholarship Fund is Lion Oil Company's way of saying "We believe in the South . . . our good neighbors. We're proud to be 'Home Folks -- Good Neighbors'!"

To encourage Southern teachers and help them further their education, Lion also sponsors special teacher essay contests. Here Zen Lee Skelton, Jr., English instructor at Rolling Fork (Mississippi) Consolidated School, is congratulated by principal H. G. Fenton on winning a $1,200 Scholarship. This year the Program provides additional cash awards.

Enjoy a half hour of music and fun on "Sunday Down South" every Sunday 6:00-7:30 P.M. over the Lion radio network.

Story to Circle 3

Circle 3 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Misses Marie and Nannie Purkins on Monday afternoon, October 13.

Mrs. Byers, leader, opened the meeting with prayer after which the roll was answered and dues were paid. A short discussion was held on how to get all members interested in attending meetings.

After singing "Faith of Our Fathers," Miss Nannie Purkins gave the devotional on "Christ the Sower." The subject of the program was "Scatter the Seeds." Talks were given by Mrs. McKeyney, Mrs. John Hartsfield, Mrs. Stiff Davenport, Mrs. Steve Carroll, Jr., Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. Harbin.

Following the singing of the second verse of "Faith of Our Fathers" Miss Clarke Cannon in a most impressive manner gave the story "Back to Her Hometown." The meeting closed with prayer by the president.

LITTLE ROCK, AR.—Recent rains over much of the state had little effect on old crops but prospects were improved for fall seeding of small grains and cover crops, Miles McPeek, agricultural statistician, said today.

In addition, he said, special loans totaling 12 million dollars have been made available. Further, to help bolster the market for live stock, the Agriculture Department has bought 130 million pounds of low grade beef for canning. Benson said the total will exceed 200 million pounds before the program ends.

The secretary said he told the President that in much of the drought area farmers will be entering the winter without pasture and with much of the winter hay and roughage already used up.

The states involved are Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia.
